

Thank you for calling 1-800-GET-TESTED®

Our mission for the past 25 years has been focused on referring callers to the highest quality and most cost-effective health and wellness testing services for people who are trying to lose weight in order to improve their health.

When we evaluate a medically guided weight loss program, one of the most important quality measures we assess is the quality of the health monitoring services that are included in the program.

We've evaluated literally hundreds of clinically guided weight loss programs over the years, and the Noom Proactive Health Program is our number one recommendation because the program includes biomarker monitoring every 16 weeks with one of the best at-home biomarkers test kits we've ever seen... and because the Noom Proactive Health Program also includes comprehensive coaching and clinical support services – not provided by an AI chatbot but by real human coaches and board-certified clinicians.
